Free Admission to the Wolf Centre in Golden

Golden, BC – June 2009 – Some of you out there have yet to check out the Northern Lights Wildlife Wolf Centre in Golden. There is no time like the present – especially if it is FREE! On Sunday, June 21, from noon until 4:00pm, join the Wolf Centre in celebrating their seventh birthday. Admission is free, and there will be snacks, crafts, tours, and howling fun for the whole family.

Wolves ignite our passion, inspire us to hate them or love them, and challenge our tolerance. Those of us fortunate to live in the wild and beautiful Columbia Valley are sharing our space with a variety of wildlife, both “cuddly” and “scary”. For most of us, wolves do not fall into the “cuddly” category. Expand your knowledge of wolves: come to the Wolf Centre.

The Wolf Centre is home to five grey wolves. Its mission is to promote wolf awareness and conservation through public education. It is open year-round, offering interpretive talks, educational programs for schools, and unique opportunities to photograph wolves in a natural setting.

Besides an interpretive tour, the staff and some special guests will be entertaining visitors with a series of skits and short plays. You won’t want to miss these!

What else is there to howl about? Join in on the first annual “Howl for Life”. All donations and proceeds from the event will go directly towards local families dealing with cancer. Let’s keep the money in the community!
